What is the difference between scattered and isolated thunderstorms?

Basically, scattered vs isolated comes down to the coverage of the storms over the forecast area. Scattered thunderstorms mean, at any one given time at least 30-50% of the area could be affected by thunderstorms. ... Typically with these days you get one or 2 storms and then that is it.

Tuesday afternoon, sitting in my windowless office in Essex and trusting the forecast for a beautiful evening in Colchester, I did not know that outside it was pouring like you would not believe. And it did not take long after sending the email that at least three responses pointed out the same in different parts of town.

However, as it turns out, it never rained at Colchester Watertower Hill, and it was another beautiful albeit muggy evening for a bike race!

First I would like to thank John Stuart, David White and Hethba Fatnassi for marshalling, Sharon Sturm at the registration, and Dorothy Pumo for the refereeing!

The C race had 6 starters. After the initial 10 minute group training phase the only ladie Hethba Fatnassi did not wait around and attacked right away in the first lap of the race phase. She was eventually caught, and the group broke up into smaller pieces. The final sprint was a repeat win for Thomas Wood over Michael Lee.

The A race had 15 starters. This time it was a more balanced affair. There were a few solo break attempts, Jason Frank was off the front for 10 laps or so, later Bill McGreevy snuck off alone and gobbled up a prime in the process. We also had a couple prime sprints for Epic Wipes prices donated by Jackalopesportsgroup and 1k2gosports. Jonny Mayer put some daylight between him and the field over the last two laps, and the hotly contested field sprint was narrowly won by Michael Owens over Josh Saxe.

The two winners for the B and A race, Peter Burgos and Jonny Meyer, received a 20$ gift card to our great supporter Skirack.

The next 2018 GMBC Practice Crit is scheduled for Tuesday August 21th. As always we are in need of volunteers, so if you could help for an hour or two, mark your calendars, and bring the family!
